DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Fujii US Patent No. 6,140,714.

3. As per claims 1 and 9, Fujii discloses a system comprising:

A first stage associated with a first component of the digital processing system

A second stage associated with a second component of the digital processing system [Figure 1, reference no. 12, secondary power-supply circuit], said stage coupled to said first stage [Figure 1, primary power-supply circuit is electrically coupled to secondary power-supply circuit];

Wherein said first stage drives said second stage [column 4, lines 60-65].

4. As per claim 2, Fujii discloses first and second stages are separated from each other [Figure 1, primary power-supply circuit is separated from the secondary power-supply circuit].
5. As per claim 4, see Figure 4.
6. As per claims 5 and 13, Fujii discloses said first component comprises a display device [Figure 1, reference no. 21, first driven circuit; column 1, lines 14-19, first driven circuit is a functional element] and said second component comprises a microprocessor [Figure 1, reference no. 22, second driven circuit; column 1, lines 14-19, second driven circuit is a functional element].
7. As per claims 6 and 12, Fujii discloses first stage and second stage are located proximately to said display device and said microprocessor [Figure 1].
8. As per claim 7, Fujii discloses said first stage provides power for said first component and said second stage provides power for said second component [Figure 1; column 4, lines 60-65].
9. As per claims 8, 14, and 20, see column 4, lines 45-59 [both power supply circuits are dc-dc converters].

10. As per claims 3, 10, and 19, Fujii discloses said first and second circuits are electrically coupled to each other such that first circuit can drive said second circuit [Figure 1; column 4, lines 60-65].
11. As per claim 11, it is inherent that said second circuit and said second component are disposed on a printed circuit board [Figure 1].
12. As per claim 15, Fuji discloses a power supply circuit coupled to at least a display device and a microprocessor of the computer system [Figure 1, reference no. 21 and 22, first and second driven circuits; column 1, lines 14-19, driven circuits are functional elements and power is supplied to these elements], wherein said power supply is capable of supplying power to said display device and said microprocessor using at least two distinct power supply stages [Figure 1, reference no. 11 and 12, primary and secondary power supply circuits; column 9, lines 36-43].
13. As per claims 16 and 17, Fujii discloses a main circuit coupled to one of said display device and said microprocessor [Figure 1; column 9, lines 36-38, primary power-supply circuit is coupled to first driven circuit; Figure 1, reference no. 21, first driven circuit; column 1, lines 14-19, first driven circuit is a functional element] and a secondary circuit coupled to the other of said display device and said microprocessor [Figure 1; column 9, lines 39-43, secondary power-supply circuit is coupled to second driven circuit]; wherein said main circuit drives said secondary circuit [column 4, lines 60-65].

14. As per claim 18, Fujii discloses said main circuit and said secondary circuit are physically isolated from each other [Figure 1].
